COMMUNITY SERVICE AND MEDIA

2023 – pres. Member of Social Science Subcommittee of Tampa Bay Estuary Program

My community service aims to bring scholarly insights on disaster vulnerability and resilience into the practical realm of disaster planning and preparedness. Since 2010, I have given presentations to various communities and organizations. I regularly talk with Florida emergency planners to help mobile home park residents prepare for, and recover from, disasters. My expertise in this area has led to several appearances on local television and citations in local and national newspapers. Additionally, starting in 2021, I have been contacted by several international journalists for interviews and background information about street art and graffiti scenes in global cities. (Details available upon request.)
