

BIOGRAPHY

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

MAJOR CHALIE L. GALLIAND

Major Chalie L. Galliand currently serves as a junior rotating faculty member in the Modern War Institute at West Point. In this capacity Major Galliand is on loan from the Air Force Academy as an exchange instructor. He is an Assistant Professor assigned to the Modern War Institute and teaches in the Department of Military Instruction. Major Galliand serves as a faculty advisor for cadets conducting space and warfare related research. In addition, Major Galliand serves as the primary point of contact for cadets interested in inter-service commissioning opportunities to the Air Force.

Prior to commissioning into the Air Force, then Sergeant Galliand, served in the United States Marine Corps, providing security and ceremonial support to United States Naval Academy. Major Galliand is a 2008 graduate of Kent State University where he earned his commission through ROTC Detachment 630. Major Galliand's Air Force experience includes space system acquisitions, aircraft maintenance, and major weapon systems acquisitions. Prior to being selected to teach at West Point, Major Galliand served as the Director of Complaints Resolution, Air Force Life Cycle Management Center. His responsibilities included managing the complaints case load for the Center, as well conducting inspections, and evaluating exercises.
